杜瑞興教授是該館館長,也是二千 年聯合國科文教組織和平教育的得獎人。 他自七〇年代中期起就一直提倡教育、研 究、行動和宗教間的和平對話,他也與國 際和平教育研究院、國教認知教育亞太中 心、世界宗教議會和和平宗教等合作。

他菲律賓籍的夫人維琪尼亞·卡娃 葛司博士,在教育與職業研究院任副教 授,也擔任多元宗教館的企案協調人。

康果玲是金岸法界的護法,與杜教 授和維琪尼亞在多元宗教會議的場合相 識,並邀請他們來訪問。

他們陶醉於金岸法界前有人工修剪 的花園與後有自然環境的羅漢道之風貌。 二十尊石刻羅漢像在高大橡膠樹下,沿著 蜿蜒的小徑,矗立在自然寂靜中。羅漢像

The garden was still gleaming with the green of summer growth, giving way to a tinge of Australia's autumn hues. It was March 10, 2007, a perfect day for an honored visit from Professor Toh and his wife, Virginia, both from the Multi-Faith Centre at Griffith University, Brisbane.

Professor Toh Swee-Hin, director of the Centre and Laureate of the UNESCO Prize for Peace Education (2000), has been promoting education, research, action, and interfaith dialogue for a culture of peace since the mid-70s. He has also worked in collaboration with the International Institute on Peace Education, Asian Pacific Centre of Education for International Understanding, Parliament of the World's Religions, and Religions for Peace.

His wife, Dr. Virginia Cawagas from the Philippines, is an adjunct associate professor, School of Education and Professional Studies, and is also the project coordinator for the Multi-Faith Centre.

Rosaline Kang, a dharma protector of Gold Coast Dharma Realm (GCDR), met Professor Toh and Virginia at a multi-faith event and invited them to visit the Gold Coast for the day.

They were charmed by the contrast of the formal sculptured garden at GCDR and the Arhat trail fringed with bush in the back, which meanders among twenty stone statues of great Arhats placed amidst a natural hush that the tall gum trees inspire. The Arhats glowed in the speckles of sun that filtered through the bush, and the guests drank in the nectar of morning sounds as resident birds began their daily renewal of territorial rights in song. 在穿過樹叢的陽光下閃閃發光,客人啜飲著晨聲 的蜜汁,常住的鳥兒也開始每日的歌聲歡唱。

大家很愉悅地由羅漢小徑漫步回來時,一對 彩虹小鸚鵡飛過平靜的園景,在綠色的山坡襯托 下閃著亮光。這對小鸚鵡在急速振動的翅膀與尖 銳的叫聲下,消失在小袋鼠飲水的「水洞」旁的 金合歡樹叢裏。

在前往圖書館的路上,大家圍聚在觀音池和 噴泉前。被晨光所照耀的寂靜水面,在銅像上投 射出一大片閃爍的光點,飛舞於大悲菩薩的衣褶 上。維琪尼亞說:「只有非此世界的建築師,才 能創造出這般美景。」

有鑒於金岸法界自然美與平靜的氣氛,杜教 授提到,他將提議學生來此參觀。

恆實法師七月訪問澳洲時,杜教授已敦請他 在多元宗教館舉辦一場演講。他們兩位曾在2004 年巴塞隆納舉行的世界宗教會議見過面。杜教授 夫婦希望有一天可以拜訪萬佛聖城。

As we were strolling back from the Arhat trail, to everyone's delight, a pair of rainbow lorikeets swept across the placid landscape, glimmering against the green hillside. With the wild rush of their beating wings and piercing notes, they disappeared in a grove of wattle trees growing around the "billabong" (waterhole in aborigine language) where the wallabies come to drink.

On the way to the library, everyone gathered around the Guan Shi Yin pool and fountain. The still water, lit by the morning sun, cast a sea of sparkles upon the bronze image, dancing in the folds of the Compassionate Bodhisattva's robes. "Only an architect who was not of this world could create such beauty," said Virginia.

Noting the natural beauty and peace found at Gold Coast Dharma Realm, Professor Toh mentioned that he would like to propose possible student visits in the future.

Professor Toh has arranged for the Multi-Faith Centre to sponsor a talk by Reverend Heng Sure during his forthcoming visit to Australia in July. They had the opportunity to meet each other during the 2004 Parliament of the World's Religions in Barcelona. Dr. Toh and Virginia said that they hope to visit the City of Ten Thousand Buddhas one day.
